LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Encouraging Employes Muny of the largest retail establishnents throughout the principal cities have adopted the plan of giving their employee annually either a ball, social prome or an excursion. This has the happy tendency of rendering the busimonths of the experiment—the second half of 1889—has been lately distributed. The sum allowed to the operatives was over 6 per cent of the sum distributed to the stockholders for the half year and amounted to β^{\dagger}_{2} per cent of the total wages of the work people. This policy of encouragement is growing in popularity.

The attitude assumed by the Lutheran of Wisconsin relative to the Bennett law is one that cannot be indersed with safety by the American people. In their speeches and in their platform the doc trine is expressed or implied that the state has no possible authority over private schools within its limits. That is a new theory in American government which must not be conceded. The state is vereign except as its powers have been slegated to the federal government. Its save that of the great charter of the republic of states It is not limited by the rules of any private school or by the creed of any church. The power of the state over every individual and over everything within its borders cannot be questioned and the assumptions of speak ers and platform writers at Milwaukee to the contrary are unnertment and pionic or an excursion. This has the happy tendency of rendering the business relations between employer and employe of a more satisfactory and congenial nature. Also another plan, that of profit shiring, tried by one of the Fall River mills, has been a success, and the operatives dividend for the first six months of the experiment—the second will hardly be denied by anyone compensive of the computer of the december of the computer of the com will hardly be denied by anyone competent to form an intelligent opinion on any subject. In effect the Lutherans declare that the state may prescribe compulsory education and insist upon instruction in the English language, but they deny the right of the common wealth, through its proper officers, to ascertain whether these laws are being obeyed. If this is not a fair statement of the furtheran attitude, then the lenders of oneyed. It has is not a that season in the Lutheran attitude, then the leaders of these people have made; an outcry at nothing at all, and have most mischiev musly introduced race and religious preindices into police The Herald must repeat its warning to the democrate of Wisconsin in terms even more vigorous than those that have been used heretofore. They should resolutely repudiate the dangerous and destructive dogma that there is power in the state that is above the state and they should speak with relation to public education in tones so clear that there may be no misapprehension. The Lutherans and German Catholics of Wisconsin have no real grievance. They are not persecuted They are not oppressed. The Bennett law is a wise and beneficient measure. The attacks that have been made upon it have been dishonest. They indicate that they been dishonest. that the churches bave taken the offen are against the state and as ecclesisates and others falsely allege, that the state has taken the offensive against the churches Based as the anti Bennett law movement is, upon false pretense, it cer-tainly must fail, and the democratic party should not be permitted to ful with it The most that any reasonable person can ask as that the law be amended in one or two unimportant particulars. If the democracy of Wisconein goes beyond thas it will go blunderingly to merited defeat
